

Exam Code of Conduct

Examination rules for students

We want the examination period to go as smoothly as possible for you. Therefore, it is important to follow and be familiar with these rules and regulations:

- Arrive on time
- Bring your own exam equipment
- Dress appropriately
- Follow instructions from the invigilator
- Not talk or communicate in any way whilst in the exam room
- Give all papers back at the end
- Ensure all work is your own work
- Ensure you write your name and surname on papers
- Ensure that their desk is kept clean

If a student does break the rules, they must be reported to the examination board and run the risk of being removed from the examination room and receiving a '0' on their answer script. A report must be sent to the examination board. It is also possible that if one candidate does not follow the rules all candidates in an examination could be disqualified.

What should you do?

1. Check your exam timetable carefully and be sure to arrive in good time. The timetable will be displayed on the exam boards at the entrance to the Technology corridor.
2. All watches, mobile phones, MP3 players, iPods, headphones, AirPods, earbuds and any other electronic equipment must be handed into an invigilator or remain switched off in your bag.
3. Candidates must leave in the theatre their hats, gloves, scarves, coats, bags, books, notebooks or any other material not listed on the exam equipment.
4. Bring your own exam equipment. You should have two black pens, pencils, rulers, rubbers, mathematical instruments and calculators without a case.
5. All your exam equipment should be in a clear transparent pencil bag or case.
6. Candidates will be admitted in silence to the Examination Room and must not communicate once they are inside.
7. You are not allowed to use correcting pens, fluids (tippex) or tape. Highlighter should not be used in your answers.
8. Bring a small bottle of still water in a clear bottle without the labels.

9. Sit at the desk that has been allocated to you – it will have your student ID on it.
10. Supplementary sheets will be available should you require any additional paper.
11. Please ensure that your name and candidate number are on your answer script, and any additional paper used. The invigilator will then dismiss you in silence.
12. On leaving the examination room, please be mindful that other students may still be in the exam and so please move well away from the room as quickly and quietly as possible.
13. The use of digital watches in the examinations is not allowed. Nor is the use of any calculator or alarm system within a watch.
14. Please call the attendance office should you know you are going to be late, or if you are unwell. The number is 01228 822060
